The Perfect Holiday Party

Holly Jolly had planned the perfect holiday party, and everything had to be just RIGHT. She hopped out of bed early and LEFT the house to buy one more string of twinkle lights. At the store, she turned LEFT at the candy canes, then RIGHT at the ornaments, and grabbed the very last box of lights LEFT on the shelf.

Holly looked around at her friends, the twinkling lights and the cookie crumbs LEFT on the table, and knew her party had turned out just RIGHT. So whatever gift you're holding now is yours to keep. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!
