FOR GROWN-UPS

Welcome, Little Explorers!

A simple, screen-free way to count down to Christmas together.

This advent calendar turns the countdown to Christmas into 24 little nature adventures. Each day brings a simple activity that gets kids outside, curious and connected to the season — no screens, no plastic and almost no cost. Most activities take 10–30 minutes and use things you already have at home or can find on a walk.

How to use your calendar

1. Print
   Print the activity cards on card stock or regular paper. Print the countdown tree and journal pages too.
2. Cut
   Cut out the 24 cards along the dotted lines. Little helpers love this part!
3. Hide
   Tuck each card into a numbered envelope, a paper bag, a jar or an egg carton. Number tags are included.
4. Explore
   Open one card each day from December 1 to 24. Do the activity, tick “I did it!” and colour in that day on the countdown tree.

Nature safety first

- Always explore with a grown-up nearby.
- Never eat wild berries, plants or mushrooms.
- Collect only fallen treasures, and leave nests and animals undisturbed.
- Check for nut allergies before making the bird feeder. Sunflower butter is a great swap.

Tips for a cozy countdown

- Rainy or snowy day? Most activities can move to a window or the kitchen table.
- Swap the order any time to fit your schedule.
- Keep a basket by the door for treasures you find.
- Use the Nature Journal to draw and remember each adventure.
